

Latin America as an Incubator for Supply Chain Thought Leadership

Enrique Carrillo Latin America as an Incubator for Supply Chain Thought Leadership from Dustin Mattison on Vimeo.

Situation: Enrique Carrillo is the newly appointed Director of Information Technology for Baxter International in Latin America, a role he says has become more of a value chain role in most companies across the region.

The Details: According to Enrique, Latin America is at the perfect stage to be an incubator of thought leadership.

What it Means: Enrique Carrillo advises companies to stay tuned, because there is a lot of work to do in the region and there is much more to come -- the infrastructure is falling into place; there are new ports, new railroads and new roads being built -- and security is improving from a transportation perspective. Centers of Excellence for manufacturing and distribution are being created, and shared services are being established in major Latin American countries as well. "Latin America," Enrique Carrillo says, "is moving in the right direction." Click Here to Read Full Article...
